IEEJ Journal of Industry Applications

Special Issue on "ICEMS 2024-Fukuoka"

Program Committee, Industry Applications Society, IEEJ
Technical Program Committee, ICEMS 2024-Fukuoka

The Industry Applications Society of the Institute of Electrical Engineers of Japan (IEEJ) is planning a special issue of the IEEJ Journal of Industry Applications for the 27th International Conference on Electrical Machines and Systems (ICEMS 2024-Fukuoka), published in November 2025. This special issue will feature the latest advancements in electric machinery, electric drives and its related fields: power conversion, transportation, power systems, renewable energy applications, etc.

Every author who has presented a paper at ICEMS 2024-Fukuoka has the right to submit a revised version of his/her manuscript for review for publication in the special issue. The Program Committee of the Industry Applications Society of IEEJ will review all submitted papers according to the regular procedure. It is recommended that, before submission for journal review, your manuscript is revised and improved based on discussions during the conference to meet the review criteria.

Please note that some contributed papers may be treated as general papers depending on the situation of the review process.

Publication schedule for the Special Issue on "ICEMS 2024-Fukuoka" is as follows.

>>Extended to 3rd, February, 2025

~~6th, January~~, 2025	◆ Deadline for submission of papers to the Special Issue
