IEEJ Journal of Industry Applications

Special Issue on “ICEMS 2020-Hamamatsu”

Program Committee, Industry Applications Society, IEEJ
Rotating Machinery Technical Committee
Motor Drive Technical Committee

The Industry Applications Society of the Institute of Electrical Engineers of Japan (IEEJ) is planning a special issue of the IEEJ Journal of Industry Applications for the 23rd International Conference on Electrical Machines and Systems (ICEMS 2020-Hamamatsu), published in November 2021. This special issue will feature the latest advancements in electric machinery and its related fields: power conversion, transportation, power systems, renewable energy applications, etc.

Every author who has presented a paper at ICEMS 2020-Hamamatsu has the right to submit a revised version of his/her manuscript for review for publication in the special issue. The Program Committee of the Industry Applications Society of IEEJ will review all submitted papers according to the regular procedure. It is recommended that, before submission for journal review, your manuscript is revised and improved based on discussions during the conference to meet the review criteria.

Please note that some contributed papers may be treated as general papers depending on the situation of the review process.

Publication schedule for the Special Issue on “ICEMS 2020-Hamamatsu” is as follows.

5th, February 2021

~~4th, January, 2021~~

November, 2021
